

Cuban Christian's Confidence

December, 2015

Dear partners of God's mission in Cuba,

As we finish the year 2015, we are reminded of the hope of Christmas and the expectation of good to come. For us who minister in country where freedom of religion is not taken for granted, this a Christ centered and comprehensive hope-a hope to be enabled to serve Him without fear and for all that is good. (See Luke 1:68)

This message is particularly relevant to Cubans today because they are in great expectation of what is to come since President's Obama and Raul Castro announced that the two countries will begin to normalize relations after an absence of more than 55 years.

During 2016, more than ever, we ask that you add the Cuban Christians and the Cuban church in general to your prayer list. Pray that they remain inspired by the promises and covenants of God-the fulfilment of God's faithfulness to His people! (See 2 Corinthians 1:20)

Thank you for expressing your love and concern through your support. We need your prayers and encouragement to persevere to accomplish the goals. Because of you, we are able to offer thousands of lost and hurting people in Cuba with what they desperately need: the love of Jesus. And please remember that we consider it an honor to prayerfully intercede on your behalf. All prayer requests are confidential. Contact Mary@echocuba.org.

Grace, peace, and love be yours in abundance,
